Advisory Action

Part of Paper No. 072204

Raquel Alvarez Examiner Art Unit: 3622 Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: With respect to the 112, 1st paragraph rejection, the cited pages specified by the Applicant discloses the card holder initiating verification of an account but doesn't disclose the system notifying the card holder that his or her account have been disabled.

With respect to the 112, 2nd rejection, the rejection has nothing to do with lack of antecedent basis. Instead, the rejection was confusing in nature because the claim recite an account-holder initiating a connection with himself and therefore correction is required.

Applicant argues that Blonder doesn't teach instructions from the account-holder to automatically verify subsequent transactions approval requests. The Examiner disagrees with Applicant because the alert and approval fields selected by the card owner of Blonder can be accessed at anytime, at the present transaction and/or at any subsequent transactions thereafter and therefore it meets the claim limitations.

Applicant agrees that Jao teaches "storing specific limitations and/or restrictions that are placed on a particular account by a cardholder" but argues that Jao doesn't teach receiving instructions from an account-holder. The Examiner disagrees with Applicant because if the restrictions are placed by the account holder as admitted by Applicant then the instructions as to how to handle the account must be received by the account holder.
